

The Body
is Body
Not Apology

ohh

Shame ugly had bad bad

Too much ugly Ahh

not enough

Sad perfect

Eat
NOR MTL

Shine poor

not bad banti cut big

How should we approach our self-perception and Societal expectations??

VS

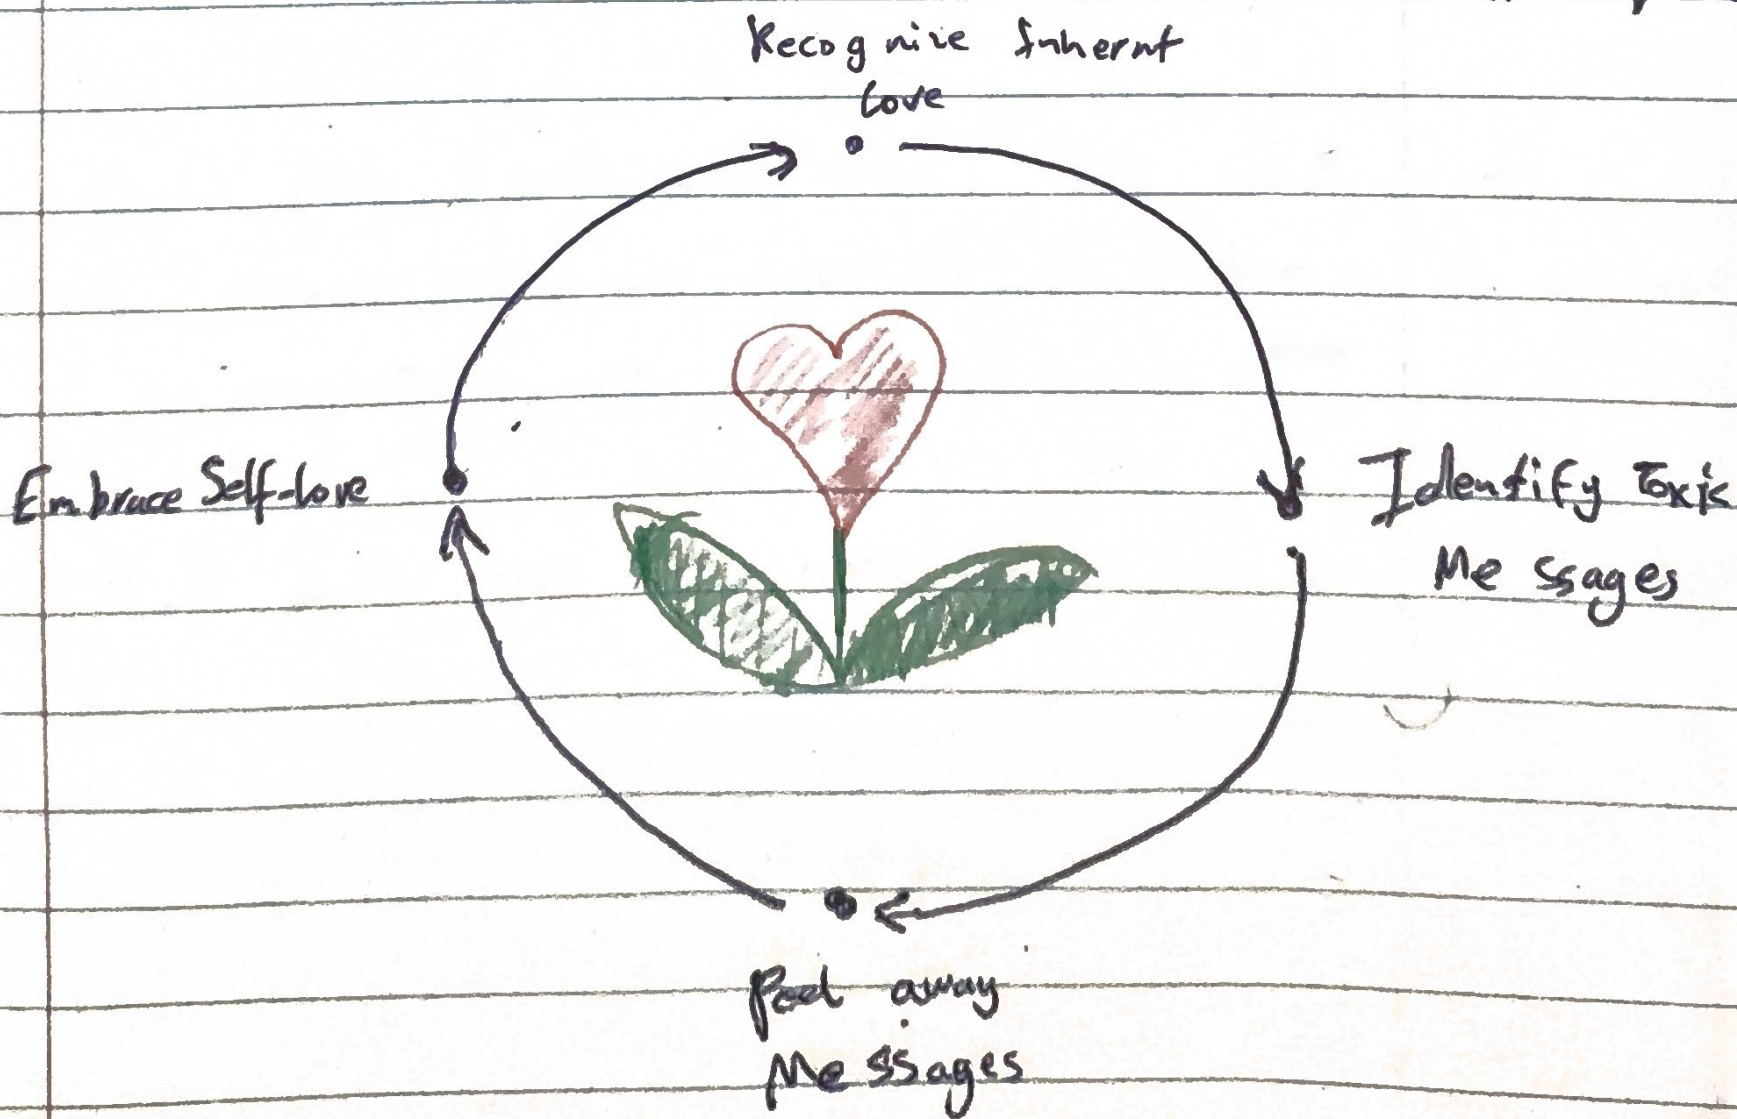

Apologetic Self

Internalize societal standards and apologize for existing

Unapologetic Self

Rejects societal standards and embraces self-acceptance.

1) Stop Apologizing: we are taught to apologize for our bodies - for being too big, too small, too loud, too dark, disabled, or different. { O mankind, We have created you from a male and female, and made you into nations and tribes, that you may know one another. Verily, the most honorable of you with Allah is that believer who was At tagwa.

2) Fight body Shame: Society runs on a body shame system that teaches us to judge ourselves and others.

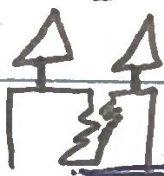

3) Its about Everyone: This isn't just about personal feelings. It connects to bigger Issues.

4) Its Not a choice;

True Healing Requires Embodied Awareness

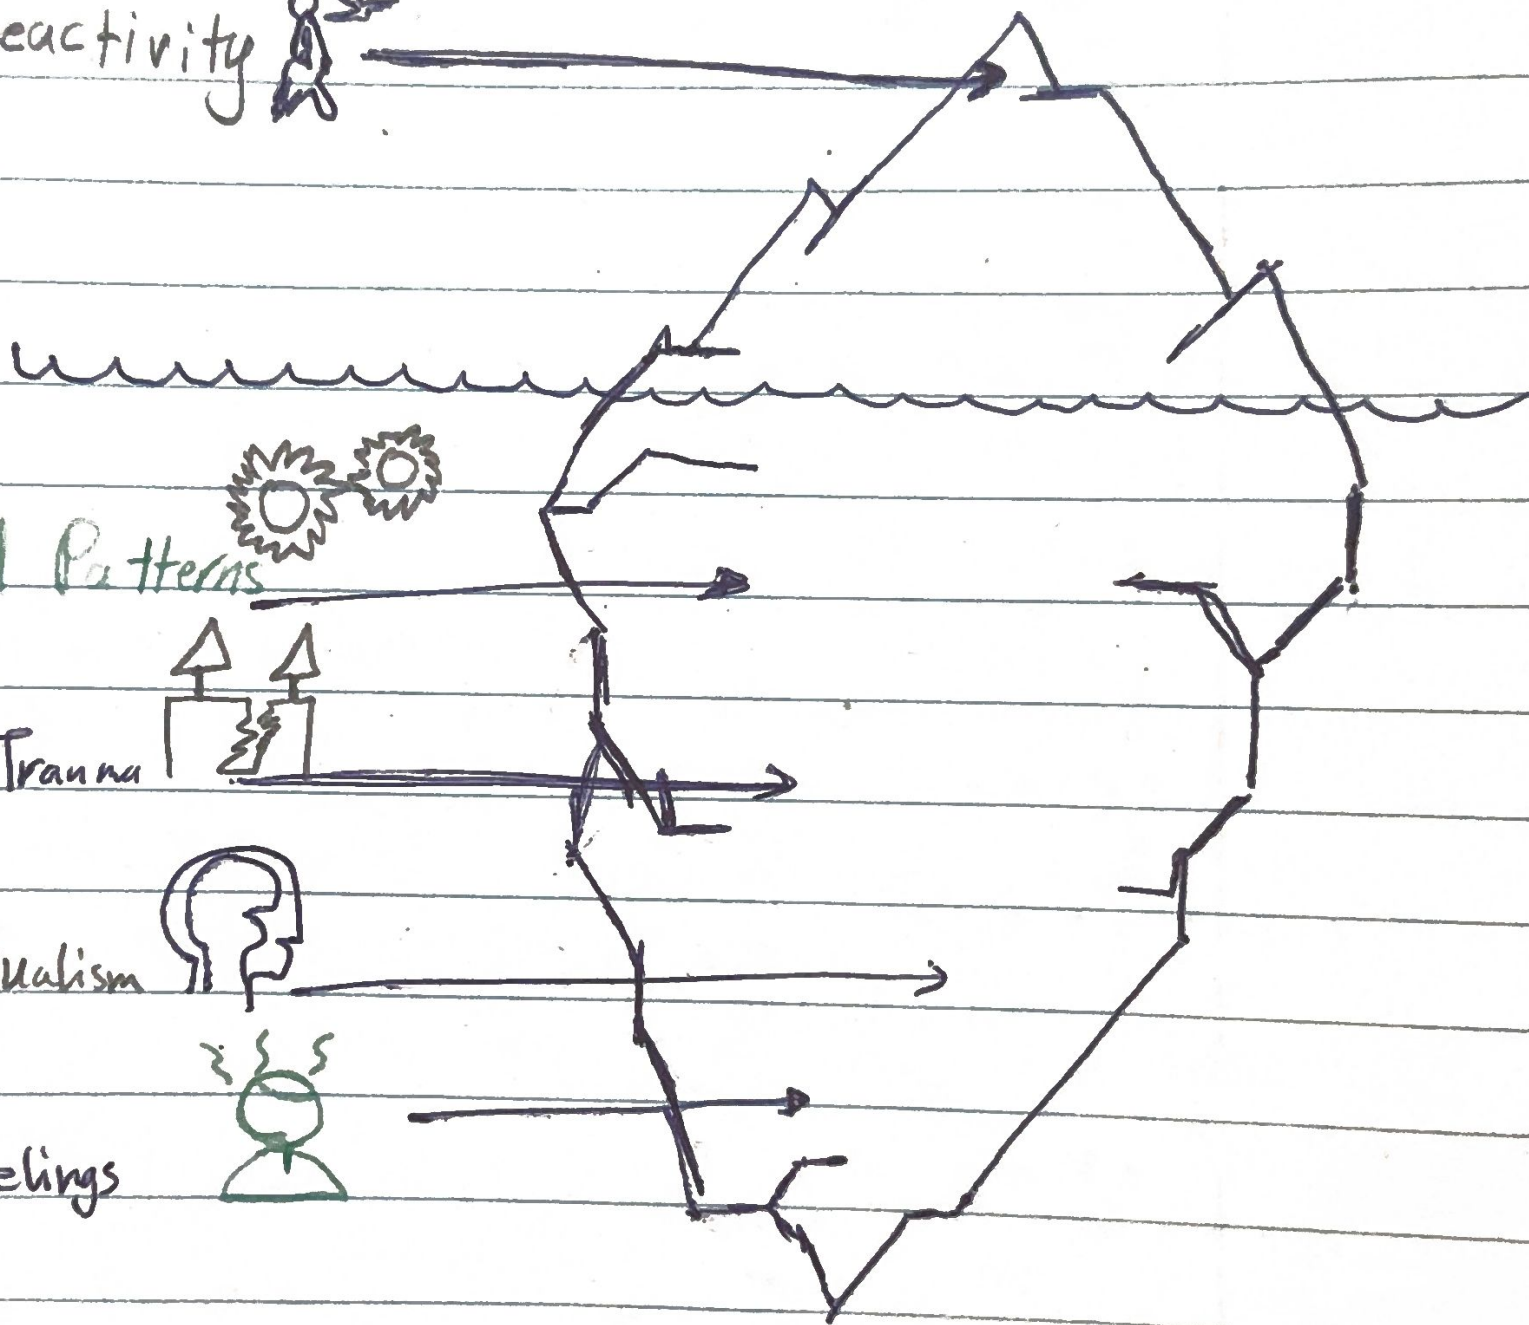

Reactivity

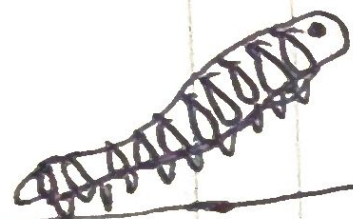

Embedded Patterns

Unprocessed Trauma

Mind-Body Dualism

Numb Feelings

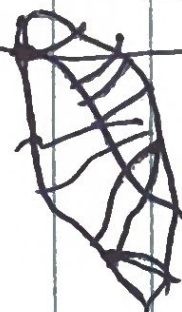

Unconscious
Patterns
Ruled by past trauma and societal masks

Embodied Presence
learning self possession and authenticity

Redefine Boundaries
living self and others simultaneously

Cultivate Trust
Being trustworthy
in a fearful world

Conscious History
Reworking Relationships with awareness

Healing Relationships Transformation
through vulnerability
and intimacy

Healing Relationships